That Quiroga might not have been alone is indicated by Oswald's former New Orleans landlady, Mrs. J.J.Garner. She told the "Times-Picayune" (2/18) that of the three times the Oswald's had visitors, on one time only were their young men. This time there were "two Cuban-looking young men about 25 years of age...had a pamphlet referring to the Fair Play for Cuba Committee."